Students meet various staff on campus and will have presentations in regard to admissions, financial aid, involvement, and student life. In addition, students get to meet in small groups with faculty and academic advisors in their intended major. This is a great opportunity for students to begin to visualize their college experience at UW-Stevens Point.

One of the best things you can do for a friend with a serious drug or alcohol problem is let them know you are there to support them. Tell them you're concerned about their drug use and encourage them to seek help from a trusted adult; maybe a teacher, coach, parent, or counselor can help. You can also help by being a strong positive influence; help them get involved in non-drug-using activities like joining a club, playing music, or playing a sport. However, if your friend is becoming a negative influence in your life, you might have to step away from the friendship for a while. If you feel your friend is a danger to himself or herself, or to others, it is important to tell a trusted adult right away; it could save your friend's life. To get them help, go to <http://www.findtreatment.samhsa.gov/>.
